Isaac K. Hall, of Wallingford.
209. Musket; date 1758.
James Birge.
210. Revolutionary Gun, used by Robert Sheffield. "This old gun, in the War of Independence, did good service in the hands of its owner, Robert Sheffield, of Southington. The writer of this note, on the breaking out of the war of 1812, drilled with it three months, and occasionally mounted guard in Jeremiah Sturges' famous company of 'Mill River (now Southport) Sea Fencibles,' composed principally of captains, mates, and sailors, who volunteered their services to Governor Griswold to defend the harbors of Bridgeport, Black Rock, Mill River, and Norwalk, from the marauding cutters of the British cruisers then in the Sound. At a subsequent period of the war, in the hands of another, it was used in an unsuccessful night attack on a British cutter, off Mill River harbor, and finally, was again used in the defense of Stonington, in the memorable bombardment by Admiral Handy, of that place, in 1814. Compared with the highly-finished, light, convenient, and effective fire-arms of

- the present day, it makes a humble and sorry appearance; but what the gun lacks in finish was made up in the courage and endurance of the men of that day, and the love of country for which they had pledged 'their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.' The old gun has a good record." Joseph E. Sheffield.
211. Musket taken from the Hessians, 1779. Chas. H. Townsend.
212. Bayonet and Cartridge Box, carried during the Revolutionary war by Timothy Dudley, of Guilford, Conn. James Birge.

219. Pistol, inlaid with silver, given by an English officer to Elbridge Gerry, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. In the New York fire of 1845, it was melted and charred. Misses Gerry.
220. Powder Horn—Abel Hine—made at Stillwater, September 15th, 1758. This Powder Horn belonged to the grandfather of Mrs. Nathaniel W. Taylor, late of this city, and is now in the possession of her daughter, Mrs. President Porter.
221. Powder Horn, made and embellished curiously by Frederick Robbins, September, 1775, in Roxbury camp. Rev. J. Brewster.
222. Powder Horn, carried by a Connecticut soldier in 1776. James Birge.
223. Powder Horn, carried by Lieut. Josiah Walker during the French and Indian war. He was one of three brothers who served in that war, and also one of three in the Revolutionary war. James Walker.
224. Dress Sword of Roger Sherman; worn by him at General Washington's levees. Mrs. Henry White,

225. Sword and Sash of General David Wooster. The Sash is the one in which he is said to have been brought off the field where he was killed. Lucius W. Fitch.
226. Sword of Captain James Hillhouse, who was Captain of the Home Guard in the Revolution. Miss Isaphene Hillhouse.
227. Sword, carried by a Connecticut man in the Revolutionary war. James Birge
228. Military Chest, owned and used by General David Wooster in the Revolutionary War. Mrs. Nathaniel Booth.
229. Saddle-Bags of the Revolutionary period. Mrs. David Ogden.
230. Saddle-Bags, that belonged to Caleb Hotchkiss. Mrs. Henry Hotchkiss.
231. Cannon Ball found at Waverley Grove; fired by the British in 1779. Wilson H. Clarke.
232. Cannon Ball, shot by a British man-of-war during the invasion of New Haven, July 5, 1779, and lodged in the chimney of a house at the corner of State and Fair streets, whence it was removed in the Spring of 1863. New Haven Colony Historical Society.
233. Bullet fired by the British, July 5th, 1779. "Many of our older people remember the old Glover Mansfield house, on Prospect street, and Mr. Glover Mansfield, and being shown by him the puttied up ball hole at the top of the front hall door. The bullet first went through the front side of the house, then passed obliquely through the above door and the plastering on the north side of the east room, and dropped into a crevice in the sill. Many other balls were shot through the house, as a number of our soldiers had gathered behind it and were firing at the British. When this house was pulled down, in 1871, the bullet was found where it was always said to have lodged, 92 years before. It is an ounce bullet, battered and flattened by going through the thickness of oak, &c. The accompanying piece of the oak door is 135 years old, as the house was built in 1740." Loaned by Horace Mansfield.

“My dear Miss Gregory,—As you are a native of Connecticut, I have determined to copy for you some verses on the ‘Brightest Ornament of your State,’ and one who was an ornament to his Country and to Human Nature.

“E. P. C. LEWIS.”

ON PRESIDENT DWIGHT OF YALE COLLEGE.

TO THE MEMORY OF THE GREAT AND GOOD.

By E. P. C. L.

Yes, thou art gone, lamented Dwight,
Yet peaceful was thy parting breath;
Tho’ thou hast soar’d to realms of light
Thou hast not felt the sting of Death!*

To serve thy God—to bless mankind—
Thy first last wish—thy ev’ry care;
Where shall we now thy equal find,
Who shall Elijah’s mantle wear?

To lead our youth to Virtue’s shrine,
On whom now shall our hopes depend?
What pleasing task ’erewhile was thine—
Instructor, Father, Guide, and Friend!

In thee were happily combined
Unrival’d talents, matchless worth,
A pious faith, “a Heav’nly mind”—
All that is excellent on Earth.

New England mourns, much honored shade,
Her brightest ornament in thee;
To thy remains each tribute paid
With tears embalm’d thy memory.

Thy kindred, friends—thy much-lov’d wife—
Who sorrowing watch’d thy closing eyes,
Saw thee resign this painful life
For endless life beyond the skies.

“Weep not for me,” thy spirit cried,
“Rest from my labours here is given;
“For me my blest Redeemer died,
“And Angels welcome me to Heav’n.”

Loaned by

Mrs. Governor Ingersoll.

385. List of Coins, in Frame :

1. Vermont Cent, 1786.
2. Massachusetts—The General Court of Massachusetts passed a Law, establishing a coinage of Shillings, Sixpences, and Threepences. Captain John Hull received the appointment to manufacture this money. Each piece had the date, 1652, on the one side, and the figure of a pine tree on the other ; hence they were called “pine-tree shillings.”
3. Massachusetts Cent, 1788.
 “ “ 1787
 —called Nova Cæsaræa. It appears that the Assembly of that year passed a Resolution, by which Mark Newby’s coppers—which were really Irish half-pence which he had purchased and brought over with him from England—with other coins of a similar character subsequently introduced, should constitute the copper circulation of what is now New Jersey. This circulation remained for upwards of a Century.
 New Jersey Coppers, three varieties, 1786, 1787, 1788.
4. The Legislature of Connecticut granted, in 1785, exclusive permission to Samuel Bishop, John Goodrich, Joseph Hopkins, and James Hillhouse, to establish a Mint, and coin money for the State. A copartnership was subsequently formed with others, and they continued to coin for a few years.

773. Autograph Letter of General Washington to Mr. Trumbull:

"PHILADELPHIA, 3d March, 1797.

"My dear Sir,—Before the curtain drops on my political life, which it will do this evening, I expect forever, I shall acknowledge, altho' it be in a few hasty lines only, the receipt of your kind and affectionate letter of the 23d of January last. When I add that, according to custom, all the Acts of the Session, except two or three very unimportant Bills, have been presented to me within the last four days, you will not be surprised at the pressure under which I write at present."

[Here follow expressions in regard to the permanency of our Government, &c., and the letter closes:—]

"Although I shall resign the Chair of Government without a single regret, or any desire to intermeddle in politics again, yet there are many of my compatriots (among whom, be assured, I place you) from whom I shall part sorrowing, because, unless I meet with them at Mt. Vernon, it is not likely I shall ever see them more, as I do not expect I shall be twenty miles from it after I am tranquilly settled there. To tell you how glad I should be to see you at that place, is unnecessary; but this I will add, that it would not only give me pleasure, but pleasure also to Mrs. Washington and others of the family with whom you are acquainted, and who all unite in every fond wish for you and yours, with, dear sir, your sincere friend,

"And affectionate servant,

"G^o WASHINGTON."

Mrs. J. D. Dana.
